FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Get Ready to ROCK in The BIG HOUSE as the United Way Brings the first-ever public concert to Kingston Penitentiary

This Historic Concert will bring some of the finest Canadian talent together featuring Headstones, The Trews, The Pursuit of Happiness and Kasador with VERY SPECIAL GUEST Tom Cochrane

KINGSTON, ON. / May 8, 2019 - visitkingston.ca presents ROCKIN' THE BIG HOUSE, in support of United Way of KFL&A, the first-ever public concert to be held on the grounds of the oldest penitentiary in Canada, Kingston Penitentiary (1835-2013).

On September 14, 2019, 2,500 lucky music lovers, history buffs and curiosity seekers will walk through the gates of Kingston Penitentiary to experience a music festival like no other in support of United Way. This rain-or-shine 19+ event will begin at 4:30pm.

"This coming together of musicians who are both, from Kingston, or attached to Kingston in some way, playing for our United Way is heartwarming. All of the performers jumped at the chance to play for us and to be a part of a concert in this storied venue," says Joanne Langlois, co-chair of the event. "It is important that our community recognizes that all of these bands are donating their time and their talent to The United Way of Kingston, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington. Due to their generosity 100% of the net proceeds is going back to the community."

Hugh Dillon, lead singer of the Headstones, is originally from Kingston, but his career in both music and film/television has taken him to Toronto and LA. "We've been hoping to get back to Kingston for a while... we couldn't be happier to be part of this historic event in support of the United Way." The Headstones have not played in Kingston since December 2013.

The Trews are this city's adopted sons having developed a huge fan base here, and also having recorded with The Hip's Gord Sinclair at the Bathhouse Studio. The Pursuit of Happiness are fresh off of their 30th Anniversary Tour of their album Love Junk and their Guitarist Kris Abbott has lived in Kingston since high school. Kasador is a Kingston-based alt-rock band who are beginning to make waves in the industry with their third release Brood and Bloom produced by Gord Sinclair and Rob Baker.

"Adding Tom Cochrane to the lineup was such a coup," adds Joanne. "Tom gives so much of himself nationally and internationally already - in fact he was on his way to Vietnam when Paul reached out. To have Tom on this bill, in this venue, is more than the icing on the cake."

The event is made possible through partnerships with the City of Kingston, St. Lawrence Parks Commission, Correctional Service Canada as well as lead sponsors Otter Creek Farms and Spearhead Brewing Co., platinum sponsors Bergeron Clifford Injury Lawyers and J.E. Agnew Food Services Inc., gold sponsor Sousa Ready Mix Inc.

"Thanks to the amazing partnerships that have been formed over the years through the Kingston Pen Tours, we are able to organize this one of a kind event in Kingston," said Scott Harris, Regional Deputy Commissions of Correctional Service of Canada and 2019 United Way Campaign Chair. "We are looking forward to seeing all the bands in this historic venue and really jumpstarting our 2019 campaign with this event."

Guests at the show will enjoy live music, specialty food trucks and restaurants, including Otter Creek Farms Food Truck, and beverages from local wineries and breweries. Spearhead Brewing Co., a local craft brewery, is generously donating all beer and proceeds from beer sales to the United Way.

Tickets are $75 and will go on sale on May 11 at www.rockinthebighouse.ca or www.ticketmaster.ca
Ticket and hotel packages can be purchased May 9 to May 11 through www.visitkingston.ca

About Kingston Penitentiary <https://www.kingstonpentour.com/>

Kingston Penitentiary is known for housing some of Canada's most notorious criminals. Since the Kingston Penitentiary was shuttered in 2013, Corrections Canada has been working in conjunction with the City of Kingston and St. Lawrence Park Commission to offer public tours of the facility. These tours have been incredibly successful, selling out months in advance of tour dates - highlighting the public's thirst and curiosity for what went on behind the giant stonewalls. In fact, almost 230,000 people have been through the doors of the Kingston Penitentiary for touring purposes. The net profit is split between the United Way of Kingston Frontenac Lennox & Addington and marketing efforts by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission and Tourism Kingston.

Headstones <https://headstonesband.com/>

Founded in Kingston over 25 years ago, this will be somewhat of a homecoming for the iconic Canadian rock band led by enigmatic singer and actor Hugh Dillon (Flashpoint, Twin Peaks, Wind River). Headstones have had a long and established career in the Canadian music scene with hits such as "Smile & Wave" and "Tweeter and the Monkey Man". Headstones just came off a successful cross-country tour in 2018 and have recently been recording their next record in Bath, Ontario

VERY SPECIAL GUEST: Tom Cochrane <http://www.tomcochrane.com/>

An iconic career which started in the pubs and rough neck bars off the highways of Ontario, then Canada and the the world, has spanned over 4 decades and is characterized by creative, musical and personal integrity. A few years into his tenure with Red Rider, they graduated to larger venues, halls, arenas and Festival stages. With and without Red Rider, Tom has released 17 albums and remains only one of 3 male artists to have a diamond certified album in Canada (over 1,000,000 Copies sold). Throughout his career, Tom has thrown his support behind a wide range of worthy causes. He has traveled the world, including Africa 9 times and Asia twice on behalf of World Vision, has performed at Live 8 and, in Tears Are Not Enough video and entertained the troops in Afghanistan. He endorses and supports Waterkeeper's Alliance, Amnesty International, War Child, Medicin Sans Frontiers, World Animal Protection and The United Way.

The Trews <http://www.thetrewsmusic.com/>

Canadian rock music darlings formed in Antigonish, Nova Scotia in 1997 have five albums to their name including their latest 2018 release, Civillianaires. With songs such as "Not Ready to Go", "Hope and Ruin" and "Highway of Heroes" they quickly made inroads in to the hearts of Canadian music fans.

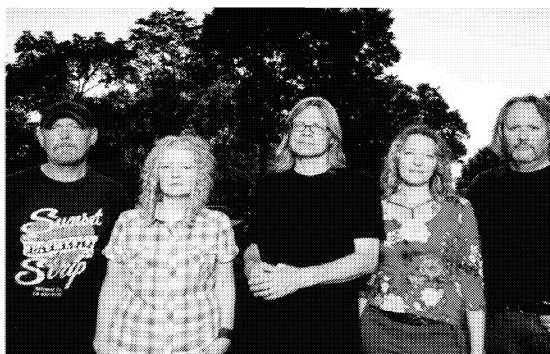

The Pursuit of Happiness <http://tpoh.net/>

Toronto's Pursuit of Happiness serves as a vehicle for the wry romantic ponderings of singer/guitarist/songwriter Moe Berg and plays a brand of power-pop influenced by Todd Rundgren who produced their first two albums.

TPOH has just come off the road from a sold out tour celebrating 30 years since their debut record LOVE JUNK, featuring their hit single "I'm An Adult Now"

Kasador <http://www.kasadorband.com/>

Kingston-based alt-rock outfit Kasador spent their first 3 years cutting their teeth on the road, garnering attention from their engaging and high-energy live performances. Duelling vocals and dynamic guitars provide a strong base for the band, rooted in rock and funk. Kasador wrote and self-produced their debut 2016 EP 'KASADOR', which they toured extensively through Canada and the USA. Since, the band released a follow up 2-track single titled 'Come Get Yer Money' in 2017. Both tracks are featured on their upcoming full length, titled 'Brood & Bloom' produced by The Tragically Hip's Gord Sinclair and Rob Baker - an album written through tough times and trying to find something

So here's my idea for some products.

We talked before about a "tour shirt," what if we did a reverse tour shirt, where instead of a list of all the cities the band has played in, it's a list of all the bands that have played in KP. There would be some bigger Canadian names reaching back quite a ways, and a tag line could incorporate our concert title and be "Rockin the Big House since XX" or "Rockin the Big House for XX years." This would keep in line with our public concert comments, it would build on the historical piece of bands playing in KP and you could even put the names of bands on the hats and toques like collectors items. I believe we just uncovered that Leonard Cohen played here in the 70s, so having his name along with our bands could make a big draw.

Thanks for explaining, Kyle. I wasn't aware of the phrase – it makes sense. I will let the committee know.

Any suggestions on what we can do? (Personally I wish the committee would just stick to the logo, which is approved!!)

Our concerns are the cultural attachments to Straight out of Compton and the black community and issues that we have with the over representation of black men in the correctional system. Having a prison setting use this language and imagery to promote a fundraiser can demonstrate insensitivities to this issue and can be seen as our lack of support for our ethnocultural communities.

I have discussed with Scott and have created tickets for the raffle for the tickets I am donating.

I have packages of ten to sell or hand out for people to sell.

Each package is labelled A-T we will need to keep track of who we issue tickets to so we can ensure that they are all collected before the draw.

Just come to my office for tickets and you can sign them out from Rob or I.
